

The struggles of this world aid in the transformation
Of the world within, our every action a reflection of the State within; the cultivation of which provides the world
With works of a unique perspective. The skilled application
Of thought producing works of an unimaginable quality:
Thoughts that seem as if beyond the grasp of the possible
Now appear within the realm of possibility; that which eluded
The mind's eye, now within reach of all who seek to discover
The highest form of wealth: for the awakened mind moves
Beyond the common conception of reality; all that stands
As an obstacle to its growth eventually wilts and falls away:
For awakened thought liberates the mind from the anxiety
Of worldly existence, clearing the way for new ideas to Replace the withering ideals of an age that has long since
Faded and fallen into a state of atrophy, that cannot be reversed.
